WINNERS!

For several years now, the Victorian Feltmakers Inc. has been sponsoring prizes, and sometimes judging, at the Royal Agricultural Society of Victoria (RASV) Show. At the same time, we encouraged our members to enter these sections, in order to keep them 'alive' on the Show's calendar.

This year, we have hit paydirt in a big way, with several VFI members doing very well indeed. Pam Czarny, Diane Roberts and Jude Wise are to be congratulated and lauded. Pam's work made it into the best of the best display, a spectacular achievement. She also won a Third Prize. Jude won a First and a Highly Commended and Diane picked up a staggering four prizes on her own.

Full report and photographs on pages 6 and 7.

Positions currently vacant-3 helpers required, please - to start as soon as you can.

Feltlines is a great source of reviews of recent workshops, tutor profiles, and information. To help our coverage, we welcome comments and/or articles from workshop participants. Send photographs and text to vfi_editor@internode.on.net.
You can remain anonymous if you wish.

Felting Frenzies

Most "Frenzies" are also held at Hartwell Church of Christ.

Join us from 9.30 am to 4 pm.
Bring whatever you want to do, and your own felting supplies, although the fibre shop is open for a while. There is no tuition, simply learning by sharing.

About this publication

In the October issue of Felt-lines, we indicated a schedule of six issues of Feltlines per year. However, on the first hurdle, this proved to be unfeasible. We apologize for this problem.

The workload attendant upon the production of so many issues, particularly with a short span between the October and December meetings, means that we will be rethinking how to solve the problem that is Feltlines.

The President writes...

With December approaching my thoughts are turning to Christmas activities and the countdown to my own family festivities. I will be hosting my extended family of 25 to a Christmas party in mid December. I have always loved Christmas and I am still no different, so I am looking forward to hosting our own VFI Christmas party on December 3rd. I have asked you all to dress festive with a touch of red, green, silver or gold and to bring a plate for our shared lunch.

Many of you took the time to fill in our feedback form or spoke to me personally to give me suggestions for the future. It was heartwarming to read how much everyone values the VFI for being a friendly and welcoming group ready to share knowledge and to inspire.

You come for the workshops/demos and speakers, the frenzies, the library and fibre shop. You like to learn, to be inspired and to share knowledge. Feltlines helps to facilitate this and keeps you connected to the VFI community, especially if you are a regional member or don't get to the meetings. You have also told us there is room for improvement around Feltlines and the General Meeting.

We have already removed the agenda from Feltlines and you should be receiving a separate email (or mail out, if you have no email) detailing the General Meeting Agenda around two weeks from the meeting date. This will continue in 2012. We will be making further improvements to Feltlines to allow us to publish more reliably and asking for your help to be on the editorial team. The General Meetings will be more activity based with more time to socialise with better time keeping.

I am listening and making improvements as we go forward. Other suggestions that I will be taking to the Committee include:

- * Inclusion of Personal Development into the workshop/speaker programme
- * Promoting our members' businesses
- * Mentoring Opportunities
- * Scholarships
- * Social Get Togethers

Best Wishes to you and your family for a fabulous festive season
Sharon Carter
President

Convergence News & Views

11th Southern Hemisphere Feltmakers Convergence

The convergence was held at Bunbury, a coastal town 2 hours south of Perth in the beautiful bush setting of Bunbury Cathedral Grammar School.

We had approximately 150 felters from Australia, NZ, Israel, USA, UK and 4 days of fabulous felting.

There were numerous demonstrations with lots of sharing. Each day there was 3-4 tutor sessions and a choice of 4-5 topics per session – it was very difficult to choose sometimes.

Topics included rugs, 3D, book binding, raw wools, dolls & toys, hats, resists, shibori felt, dyeing, slippers, masks, flowers, jewellery and problem solving, plus others.

At the same time two master classes were held and those lucky enough to have their name pulled out of the ballot had two days with Anita Larkin or Liz Clay. (See Helen Rossi's article about her Liz Clay master class).

We had a theme each day – Monday was Wild felt which could be interpreted as wild animals or just jazzy felt; Tuesday was Jewellery; Wednesday was Scarf; Thursday was Recycling – this was won by two VFI members – Helen Rossi and Mary Ann Walsh (we must be good at recycling!!).

On Tuesday night a fashion parade was held in the auditorium using mainly professional models but some were brave enough to model their own garments. There were over 120 entries and some fabulous pieces.

A suitcase bazaar was held on Wednesday night – anyone could bring a suitcase and set it up and sell their wares and this was advertised locally. It was a great atmosphere and there was a wide range of product for sale – not just felt!

On the final night we had a 60's cabaret with great entertainment and lots of dancing. Some really outdid themselves with their outfits and had really dug in the back of their wardrobes!

The Bunbury team did a great job of organising the convergence and putting together a wonderful programme. CONGRATULATIONS.

In 2013 the convergence will be hosted by the Illawarra Felters – near Wollongong. Make a mental note now and plan ahead - you won't be sorry.

Liz Clay's Elemental Rhythms -

Combining Photography with Nunofelt

I attended the Liz Clay Master Class at the Bunbury Convergence. Liz is the author of Nuno felt. She is current Chairman of the International Felters Association and Lecturer in Textiles & Fine Art at Bath Spa University. She has worked with Stella McCartney, Givenchy and Vogue magazine.

The class involved two days of exploring colour blending, texture, shape and line, as a response to a photograph. We made lots of small textured felt pieces, in flat and pleated felt, and in nuno felt Surrounded by a mounting board, and with Liz's guidance, our small organic felts developed a new personality. When placed within the photographic image they became small works of art.

Felting on such a small scale, in a dialogue with another medium, was a new and fascinating

For information about Liz and her work, see her website (www.lizclay.co.uk) or her book, "Nuno felt: techniques and inspiration for accessories and home interiors".

- Helen Rossi

Liz also taught this class at the VFI in Melbourne. There should be a good few of these samples at the December meeting, so hopefully pictures in the next Feltlines.

with silk, with lace, muslin, and with stones encased between tissue silk and wool fibres. Small, interesting, delicate pieces, were carefully and gently felted, in the hand or on bubble wrap.

Liz is just delightful. She is a patient and inspirational teacher.

experience. Each participant made creative pieces that were completely different. I made a series of four, using photographs of trees in my garden, and a class piece.

RASV Winners

The news wasn't on the editor's desk as we went to press in October, but some VFI members did very well at the RASV in September. They deserve to be celebrated.

BRAART Exhibition

March 30 to May 6, 2012

BraArt, to be held at the Murray Bridge Regional Gallery in the Vicki Nottage Sculpture Court, will be an inspirational exhibition of arty bras and bra art, to tantalize, enjoy and amuse, made by a diverse range of artists with proceeds benefiting Breast Cancer Charities.

Entries are now being called for by Samantha Pope, the creator of the exhibition, in remembrance of Vicki Nottage, artist, business woman and patron of the arts. 72% from the sale of exhibited BraArt entries and 100% of profits from related souvenir sales will be donated. A calendar will be produced for the 2012-13 Financial Year.

To help you make your entry, there are themes to this exhibition. Theme A is based around words which contain the letters BRA, like zebra, et cetera. Theme B is for upcycled items and altered bras. Theme C is the open section - perfect for all those bras we made for the 2007 Convergence!

Call Samantha Pope on 08 8535 8220 or email her on samsartisticcreations@yahoo.com.au for more information or an entry form.

Thanks to Carol Bath for forwarding this piece!

Hi Narelle,

I'm looking for some more Corriedale wool tops.
Can you tell me where you buy them from please?

Many thanks,
M. H.

Hi M.H.,

The best place I know is Wondoflex that have a lot of coloured Corriedale, - $8 for 100gms. Website and link to all the colours they have: <http://www.wondoflex.com.au/Items.php?catid=317&mcat=315&divid=15>. It is not far from Hartwell: 1353 Malvern Road Malvern VIC 3144, (03) 9822 6231.

Workshop with Jenny Romano

Handweavers and Spinners are hosting a needle-felting workshop with Jenny Romano - Cone Pixies, shown above. You will create a character face on cone shaped wool batt. Learn the techniques of creating a face from wool and embellishing it in a choice of hand-dyed Corriedale fleece. These little pixies stand approximately 20 cm tall.

Cost for this workshop is $85 for members and $95 for non-members. You will need to bring a piece of foam approximately 10 cm high, on which to work (an off cut from Clarke rubber or a car washing sponge work well). If you have felting needles bring them with you... (sizes #36 for coarse wool, #40 for fine wool). Jenny has some which you can purchase at $2 a needle.

Date: Friday, 17 February 2012 9am-4pm. Contact Handweavers & Spinners Guild of Victoria on 9387

FELTernative 2012

Hot on the heels of our wonderful success in 2011, the VFI is taking its show closer to town!

The exhibition dates are August 6–26, 2012. The venue is Chapel off Chapel Gallery, a great position in Prahran, near the city. Its address is 12 Little Chapel Street Prahran VIC 3181. You can check out their website at www.chapelloffchapel.com.au. Now get cracking on those wonderful works of art!

Help Needed

It is a lot of fun putting together Feltlines each time. However, doing the whole job myself is wearing a bit thin. I am very happy to do all the layout and to pull writing into shape, but could do with just a little extra help.

There are regular “columns” which could easily be run by a few members. These are:

- Woolly Bits
- What’s On (not in this issue)
- Advertising - and billing for ads
- Show and Tell (just identifying who/what and a little bit of text, perhaps)
- Workshops (great to get some text from participants as well as images)

We might think of adding:

- Member of the Month (some people have asked for this - a perfect one person job)
- Library Book Reviews - maybe a book club?
- Exhibition Reviews
- and anything else you might wish for in our magazine

Please think about this and contact Sarah if you would like to work on an issue as a trial. Might I request someone to write something on the next meeting (December 3) and take photographs? I will be in New Zealand on that date.

MARKET NEWS

December Mini Market

In December we welcome the following traders and a few extra guest traders to get you in the festive shopping mood! :

Guest trader and speaker – Charly McCafferty from Ixchel Fibre Farm, an Angora rabbit stud, who will introduce us to her Angora rabbit fibre and fibre art supplies.

Guest Trader – Angie Coulter of Which Colour Bead? Angie will be selling glass bead strands, unusual metal connectors, lucite flower beads and other fantastic embellishing bits and pieces.

Her website address is www.whichcolourbeads.com.au

Guest Trader – Lisa Kowalski of The Little Brown Doggie Bag. Lisa makes home made dog biscuits and decorations, as well as some tasty treats for us adults!

VFI member Diana Schlecht will be selling a collection of embellishments including handspun art yarn/dyed wool; hand dyed angora curls; buttons and doilies. Also available will be an assortment of hand-painted silk scarves, ties and silk pieces as well as some felted bags scarves and other felted bits and pieces. Some new and old books, magazines on a variety of handcrafts, and some hand-made cards.

We welcome back VFI member Carolyn Rogers of Ripples on the Pond "Thinking outside the box with colour and texture!" Selling hand-dyed wools, silks, mohair curls and more. Introducing new ranges of stunning hand-dyed tissue silks and muslins in a variety of sizes and colourways for use in nunofelt-ing scarves and up to full garment size.

- Narelle Higgins

Not much to show this month, although this does not mean that not much was presented. It is an indication that the cameras were clicking for the work in FROCKtober and perhaps the photographers were a little exhausted from all their effort.

Below is Ros Bint with the mandala rug inspired by Martien van Zuilen's work. The rest are lovely but their creators are unknown at this time.

October Meeting - FROCKtober

Our sort-of annual trip to the Hartwell Race Track took a different direction this year with the birth (or is that resurrection? a zombie, perhaps?) of yet another fashion icon, or more aptly, victim.

Yes, that Olga from the Volga herself, our renegade comrade, Natarshaa from Russiaa, lurched onto the runway and took control of our fashion parade!

All claims to style and elegance were quietly dropped, in much the same way Natarshaa tried to down a few quiet "drops" of Stolichnaya halfway through the parade. We did notice that, Natarshaa!

Wearing some furs that were probably important to her granny in the gulag, Natarshaa was the perfect foil to the fabulous felted fashions paraded before our eyes.

In what must be one of the most significant upsets of recent years, we were treated to two male models, wearing their own hand-made woollen clothing with grace and style.

One of these, our own super-powered treasurer, Tony Cooper, was the inaugural winner of the Lolita Fashionista trophy - a sash made from Lolita's own favourite, animal print material. (What is it about these so-called fashionable types and dead animals? I need to be told.)

Other winners, in no particular order, were Jan Everett, Margot Ling and Lucia Tužinská. Well done, all of you, and the many others who walked the runway walk. As always, it was a wonderful sight, seeing our fantastic creators in their equally fantastic creations. Felt may well be lovely in a gallery, but it is great to see it on the moving human form.

Many thanks to all the members who sent in images from the day and especially to those of you who answered my cries of help for a photograph of Tony at the last minute! It highlights the wonderful, supportive character of VFI members.

A thank you also to the gentlemen of the church's Mens' Group, who set up the hall for us, carefully prepared in anticipation of our parade. This is something that they often do for us. It seems only appropriate to recognize it after having had two men strut their stuff on the catwalk!
